In economics, "rational expectations" are model-consistent expectations, in that agents inside the model are assumed to "know the model" and on average take the model's predictions as valid. Rational expectations ensure internal consistency in models involving uncertainty. To obtain consistency within a model, the predictions of future values of economically relevant variables from the model ...

CHARACTER AND PRESENCE. I feel who we are as change practitioners is at least as significant as what we do, and how we show up when serving our clients—the character and presence we bring forward—is a critical part of practicing our craft.. I hope you will read my two series on character and presence, and then apply this lens to all the other topics here.
