What It Is. Brachycephalic airway obstruction syndrome (BAOS) * is characterized by primary and secondary upper respiratory tract abnormalities, which may result in significant upper airway obstruction. BAOS is an inherited condition in the cavalier King Charles spaniel. The breed is predisposed to it, due to the comparatively short length of the cavalier's head and a compressed upper jaw **.

Eye Discharge. Normal Guinea pigs excrete a milky white liquid which lubricates their eyes and is used to help them clean their faces. After the eye fills up with the white fluid, the guinea pig will then take their front paws and make washing motions. This may happen several times per day although you may never even notice.

Breeders' Responsibilities. Currently, the Canine Eye Registration Foundation (CERF) does not deny certification to cavalier King Charles spaniels which are affected with corneal dystrophy, because the Genetics Committee of the ACVO classifies the disorder as a "breeder option" for CKCSs. However, the Canine Inherited Disorders Database recommends that all dogs suffering from corneal dystrophy ...

Why do dogs sleep with their eyes open? You may have stumbled in the past on some funny cartoon scenes where a guard dog is snoring with his eyes open, almost to attest that he's on guard duty 24/7 even when he looks asleep, but do dogs really sleep with their eyes open?. My dog sleeps with his eyes partially open from time-to-time and there are several dog owners who are wondering how and why ...
