Temperate forests are found in the eastern 1/3rd of North America, in western Europe, in China, Korea, Japan and Australia (although the Australian forest is very different). There is also a bit down in the southern tip of South America. Note that the forest is shifted to the north in Europe; this is a result of the warmer temperatures there as a result of the Atlantic Conveyor (an extension ...

Unlike a desert, water is not in short supply in the tropical rainforest. Still, there is intense competition, only in this case the competition is for light and nutrients.. With many tall trees forming a multi-layer canopy, not much light gets to the forest floor, and competition for light is intense. Sometimes the forest floor may be relatively bare because there just isn't enough light.

St. Patrick's Day Balloon Rockets. I'm sure you have seen all the fun balloon rockets all over Pinterest. Science Bob has a great tutorial on how and why these little racing balloons work so well. Since St. Patrick's Day is right around the corner, we decided to try Racing Balloon Leprechauns instead of rockets. We used nylon kite string, wide straws (the kind that are wrapped in paper ...

If there are two things Cracked is all about, it's fucked-up animals and dongos. And since they won't let me write "The 7 Most Fucked-Up Animal Dongos," [Editor's Note: Only because it's been written already], I had to settle for focusing on just the animal stuff. So hey, here are a bunch of adorable animals that will probably scar you for life.

As an immigrant from England's industrial north-west, I have always delighted in the Canadian animals that I found here in Ontario, especially in seeing the Squirrels that are common in this area. We see lots of Grey Squirrels, which have both Black and Grey types, and there is occasionally the smaller Red Squirrel.

Why is chaparral important? Because chaparral defines California as a place. It is our native landscape. It provides essential protection against erosion, allows underground water supplies to recharge, moderates local climates, provides important habitat for an interesting assortment of animals, and offers unique opportunities to remain connected to nature on a local level.
