Guy Wires Or Guide Wires

A guy-wire, guy-line, or guy-rope, also known as simply a guy, is a tensioned cable designed to add stability to a free-standing structure. They are used commonly in ship masts, radio masts, wind turbines, utility poles, fire service extension ladders used in church raises and tents. A thin vertical mast supported by guy wires is called a guyed mast.

Chewbacca . Wookie sounds are constructed out of pieces of walruses and other animal sounds. "You have bits and fragments of animal sounds which you have collected and put into lists: here is an affectionate sound and, here is an angry sound and, just like with R2-D2, they are clipped together and blended. With a Wookie, you might end up with five or six tracks, sometimes,

After my less than successful attempts on 6 meters with my collinear array, I decided to try another design that I had been looking at for some time. A quad turnstile consists of two cubical quad loops oriented in a diamond configuration and angled 90 degrees apart from one another with both diamonds sharing the same top and bottom points.

When rodents enter the car, they climb up the tread of the tires so this essentially will block off the entrance to the car. I use the Tomcat Rat Snap Traps because they are super easy to set (i.e. I don't feel like I am going to lose a finger when I set them), their design makes it almost impossible for a rodent to take the bait without setting off the trap, and they get the job done!
