Photovoltaics (PV) is the conversion of light into electricity using semiconducting materials that exhibit the photovoltaic effect, a phenomenon studied in physics, photochemistry, and electrochemistry.. A photovoltaic system employs solar panels, each comprising a number of solar cells, which generate electrical power.PV installations may be ground-mounted, rooftop mounted or wall mounted.

Photovoltaics - Wikipedia

Traditional photovoltaic cells are commonly composed of doped silicon with metallic contacts deposited on the top and bottom. The doping is normally applied to a thin layer on the top of the cell, producing a pn-junction with a particular bandgap energy, E g.. Photons that hit the top of the solar cell are either reflected or transmitted into the cell. . Transmitted photons have the potential ...

Photovoltaic (PV) technology has been used to power homes for many years, and with good reason. Sufficient sunlight falls on Australia to supply the nation's total energy needs many times over. By installing solar modules (or panels), the homeowner is able to capture some of this abundant energy. Read this article in conjunction with Renewable energy.

The global energy consumption is likely to grow faster than the population growth. The fuel consumption was growing from 6630 million tons of oil equivalents (Mtoe) in 1980 to 11,163 Mtoe in 2009. This projected consumption will increase 1.5% per year until 2030 and reach 16,900 Mtoe and the main drivers of this growth are mostly developing countries in Asia.
