The flat rate manuals are used for warranty work so the dealership can charge the manufacturer for work that has been done. This is determined by the manufacturer with an experienced tech working on a brand new motorcycle performing said task. Typically dealers will multiply the warranty flat rate time by 1.5 to determine the "retail rate."

The shop rate is the amount per hour that the shop charges per hour of labor. Most shops post it in the service area or you can just ask them what it is. Repair shops often use these flat rates to figure out how much is a fair price to charge for each repair. This sounds good and all until you consider one thing.
