scanrail / iStock When you apply for jobs via email, the employer may require you to send your resume and cover letter as an attachment to an email message. It's important to send your attachments correctly, to include all the information you need so your email message is opened and read, and to let the receiver know how they can contact you to schedule an interview.

How to Email a Resume and Cover Letter Attachment

The job posting should give you detailed information on how you are expected to apply. You may be asked to upload your resume online or to email your resume. If it's to be sent by email, you may be advised what format you should use for your resume, what to include in the subject line of the email, and by when the employer needs to receive it.
