Inventing Our Selves Psychology Power

The psychology of self is the study of either the cognitive, conative or affective representation of one's identity or the subject of experience. The earliest formulation of the self in modern psychology derived from the distinction between the self as I, the subjective knower, and the self as Me, the object that is known.. Current views of the self in psychology position the self as playing ...

The soul-centered awareness of our collective Origin in the Divine Unit of Creation moves us from a place of mere intellectual conjecture (although that is a good place to start!) into one that acts as the focus of our Living Consciousness.

Article 2 | Alan Oken

We now know enough about human biological evolution to understand that our social nature is built into our instinctual biological core. We are not loosely connected separate entities; we are by our very nature shaped and motivated by mutuality, cooperativeness and love. Unlike most creatures, we ...
