A Stoic would agree with this quote from the above book: The most important thing successful investors have in common is worrying about what they can control. They don't waste time worrying about which way the market will go or what the Federal Reserve will do or what inflation or interest rates will be next year.

No-inventory publishing changes everything for everybody and nobody will escape making adjustments (The Shatzkin Files, 10-7-13) Must to think about here. For example: "Should a library that uses its copy of an ebook to satisfy many readers pay more than an ebook reader who has practical (and contractual) barriers to sharing?"
