Founded in 1952 by René Ramillon, Moncler takes its name from the French Alpine town of Monestier-de-Clermont. Equipped for extreme weather, the brand cut its teeth producing quilted sleeping bags and tents, while the first quilted jackets were simply a means to keep workers warm on the slopes.

Labels The Moncler label is normally located at the center top on the inside of the jacket (except for reversible jackets). Known exceptions are early Karakorum models that have the label on the inside of the left pocket (!), as well as some of the K2 models, which have them on the lower right side of the jacket. On some models, the label is located above the cartoon.

Suit and sport coat sizes have one number and one descriptive word (for example, 38 short, 40 regular, 42 long). The number refers to your chest measurement, and the descriptive word refers to the length of the jacket. Check your own measurements and look for additional size information on the product page to determine which size you should purchase.
