I remember a powerful message which President David O. McKay asked me to convey to the members of the Church. During the years when he was not able to travel or visit away from Church headquarters, he would say to me as I would seek his counsel before going out on an assignment, "President Tanner, as you go among the people, I would ask you to remind them to remember who they are and to act ...

Remember who you are. Once you get to know God, you realize that God did not create the mess the world is in today. God did not create war, poverty, racism, greed and class differences. We did and we still do. As the body and mirror image of Christ, we must begin to re-create the society we live in. Remember who you are.
