We Become What We Worship A

We Become What We Worship. In whole-life worship of God, our minds are being transformed, and we are being conformed to the image of Christ (see Colossians 3:10 ). In the act of idolatry, as a heart worships a created image, it is being conformed to the world in its unnatural twistedness (see Romans 1:18-27 ).

We are by nature worshiping creatures, and we will eventually become like what we worship. If that is God, we will be molded into God's image (which is what we were created to do). But if we worship idols, we will become like idols.

We Become What We Worship: A Biblical Theology of Idolatry

To understand this concept, we have to understand the origins of the word worship. The word worship comes from the Old English worðscip or wurðscip —or worthship—meaning “condition of being worthy, dignity, glory, distinction, honor, renown.”. To worship something is to see worth in a person or object.

If you worship the living God, you will become like him, with all his vibrancy, relationships, and character. Although we live in the twenty-first century, we still can see the widespread worship of false idols. Some worship the idols of money, houses, power, and position.

We Become Like What We Worship: Psalm 115 - Seedbed

"We Become What We Worship is biblical theology at its best, weaving together Old and New Testament texts into a unified message. Beale's work is original yet traditional, profound yet simple, exegetical yet 'hyperexegetical,' sometimes provocative yet always profitable, for the scholar yet for every serious Christian.
